Superior, Wis., July 16.—Invading the strong-hold of Republican insurgency, Herbert Hoover diverted his way across the country to a council of war with the Coolidge at the Summer House.
The Republican nominee came to the town of Superior and was met with a warm reception by the north country people. He motored from there to the presidential lodge at the Hotel Superior.
Campaign strategy, party policies and his own speech of acceptance will be discussed by Hoover in his conference with Mr. Coolidge. They will also discuss the coming campaign. Hoover also is certain to discuss with Mr. Coolidge the future of his successor as secretary of the treasury. The president already has secured Hoover's resignation from the cabinet by mail.
Leave Tuesday Night
The nominee will spend two days at the Coolidge, leaving the presidential lodge tomorrow evening to return to his home at Duluth, Minn. He then will resume the transcontinental trip to his old home at Palo Alto, Calif., to receive formal nomination of his nomination for presidency.

Hoover-Coolidge conference formally was held on enemy ground as Wisconsin was the only state carried by the late Robert M. LaFollette against the president in the 1924 election.
Hoover's friends for their campaign on ways and means to win the 1928 election.
Hoover found Wisconsin's voters friendly to him. At Janesville and Madison last night, large crowds gathered to greet him as he made platform appearances. The nominee at last aroused their interest and he was treated to considerable cheering.
Hoover and Fred R. Zimmerman, a leading electioneer, and Walter J. Kiefer, a candidate to succeed him, both rode the Hoover train. Zimmerman got on in Chicago, while Kiefer remained in Milwaukee. Both are Hoover men, but both denied they were seeking nomination.

YOUNG NOT SMITH GOVERNOR CHOICE

Laughs At Suggestion He Favors Electric Chief; Roosevelt Slated

Albany, N. Y., July 16.—Governor Al Smith today denied published reports that he has picked Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric company, as the Democratic party gubernatorial candidate in the coming state election.
After a hearty laugh, the governor said:
"That decision will be made by the Democratic state convention late in September. A man who gives serious thought to that in the middle of July hasn't much to do."
Governor Smith and the Democratic leaders are not expected to give any thought to the selection of a state ticket until after the executive formally accepts the presidential nomination at the notification ceremony here the middle of next month.
Because Young is not exactly in accord with the governor on the development of the state's water-power resources it is not considered likely that he will be selected for the gubernatorial nomination.
Would Favor Roosevelt
Governor Smith, according to his close friends, would like to see Franklin D. Roosevelt head the Democratic ticket in New York state this fall. It is understood, however, that Roosevelt has told the governor he does not feel he is physically able to make the fight.
In the event that Roosevelt cannot be induced to accept the gubernatorial nomination, the governor and some of the up-state leaders may throw their strength to former Lieut. Governor George R. Lunn of Schenectady. It was reported today at the capital, Lunn, now a member of the public service commission, is a former clergyman and a vigorous campaigner.

FIGHT FOREST FIRES IN WEST

Southern California Is Swept by Two Blazes; One Out of Control
Los Angeles, Calif., July 16.—Three hundred men were fighting two forest fires in southern California today and more men will be thrown into the battle today, in an effort to check the devastating blaze.
One fire is raging through little Santa Anita canyon, north of Sierra Madre, and is rapidly gaining headway toward Mount Wilson.
The second fire is sweeping through Big Tupunga canyon, about 25 miles north of Pasadena. Difficult terrain is making the fire fighters' task a difficult one.
Red Bluff, Cal., July 16.—Burning with fresh fury, the forest fire in Lassen national park which has been blazing since Friday, today was reported to be entirely out of control and sweeping toward the town of Lyonsville.
Fresh fire fighters have been thrown into the lines and planes are being used to reconnoiter over the forest.
More than 5,000 acres of brush and timber land have already been burned over. Orders have been issued that herds of cattle in the park be removed.

Spoiled Ice Cream Poisons Eighteen

Ionia, Mich., July 16.—Spoiled ice cream was blamed today for an epidemic of ptomaine poisoning that broke up the Gold-Currier family reunion yesterday. Of 75 persons who attended a picnic, 18 are in serious condition.
All available doctors in Ionia and surrounding towns worked far into the night to save the lives of those stricken.

SHOWDOWN NEAR ON CLAIMS OF "DUCHESS"

New York, July 16.—Behind the massive gates of Mrs. William B. Leeds' palatial home at Oyster Bay, L. I., is a mysterious woman who soon must prove whether she is the Grand Duchess Anastasia, of Russia, or risk the loss of a fortune.
Closely guarded by her benefactress, who is the former Princess Xenia of Greece, and wife of the heir to millions, the voluntary prisoner claims she is the daughter of the late Czar Nicholas II, and sole survivor of the massacre of the royal family.
If her claims are true, she is entitled to the residue of the czar's wealth which it is said to repose in the vault of a British bank.
Today, the tenth anniversary of the execution of the czar and

PLAN FOR PARIS PEACE MEETING TO SIGN TREATY

Banishment of War looms Nearer Today As Four Nations Approve Note

BACK OF KELLOGG SECOND PROPOSAL

France and Italy Latest To Signify Willingness To Enter Agreement

Washington, July 16.—The great nations of the world are ready today, for the first time in history, to take a concerted step toward the universal banishment of war.
France and Italy, in notes made public by the state department, accept Secretary Kellogg's modified proposal of June 23 for a general treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.
Germany has already accepted. Great Britain's favorable answer is expected this week. Japan has accepted Kellogg's original proposal of April 13.
Plan For Session
With all powers in agreement upon the general terms of the projected treaty, attention of statesmen is turned to plans for a gathering of foreign ministers at Paris next October for the actual conclusion and signing of the historic covenant.
Secretary Kellogg will head the American delegation to this gathering. If President Coolidge approves. The project is now before the chief executive at his Wisconsin vacation home.

His consent to Kellogg's appearance in Paris is expected as soon as formal approval of the gathering is received from the principal European capitals. England, France and Germany have already expressed tentative concurrence in the plan.
French Reply Saturday
The French reply was delivered to Ambassador Herriot at Paris on Saturday, anniversary of France's historic Bastille Day, the continental equivalent of the Fourth of July.
Premier Mussolini's acceptance, couched in the characteristic crisp sentences of Il Duce, says simply that the Italian government, on the premises outlined in Kellogg's note, "is disposed to proceed to the signature thereof."
The present form of the treaty is not an unqualified renunciation of war, as advocated by Kellogg in his April proposal to the powers.
Others May Adhere
Under the terms of Kellogg's original proposal, the final treaty is to be open to all other nations which may elect to adhere.
The powers addressed by Kellogg on June 23 were Australia, Belgium, Canada, Czechoslovakia, England, France, Germany, India, the Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, New Zealand, Poland and South Africa.
Never before have so many nations figured in a project for the outlawry of war.
The projected Paris gathering would rank with the Versailles conference of 1919 as an epochal milestone in the toilsome road to universal peace.

Brooklyn Bandits Use Indian Paint To Rob Restaurant

New York, July 16.—Chicago gunmen may claim the distinction of having first introduced the sub-machine gun into the hold-up "racket" but to Brooklyn goes credit for the first use of camouflage by stick-up men.
Three bandits today entered a State st. restaurant with their faces disguised with paint used in a manner like that employed formerly only by Indians on the warpath.
The paint was streaked over their faces in weird pattern. The leader wore a heavy black line under one eye, while the rest of his face was streaked a brilliant red.
The proprietor and his staff were so astonished that the bandits escaped with $1,000 in cash and jewelry before an alarm was raised.

BOARD TO BUILD WALL ON NORTH SIDE OF FIELD

Sufficient Money For A Part of Enclosure; School Progresses

Plans are being made by the board of education to accept bids for the construction of a concrete and brick wall along the north end of Reilly field. Supt. of Schools John S. Alan announced today.
The retaining walls at the south end of the field are almost completed, and the construction of the second wall at the front end will start soon.
Due to the lack of funds, it will not be possible to circle the entire field with the wall, it is said, this being left until next year.
The field is rapidly assuming the shape of a modern stadium. Grass is now in evidence over the entire field, and with the completion of the walls, the new school as a background, and the concrete bleachers on the side of the field, the field has the appearance of one of the finest athletic plants in the eastern part of Ohio.

BODY OF AIRMAN GOES BY TRAIN

Carranza Funeral Service In New York Wednesday Before Journey

New York, July 16.—Capt. Emilio Carranza, who flew to the United States so bravely from Mexico, will return to his native land by rail on Wednesday, his body broken and crushed in a tragic accident—a fate which has drawn still closer together the two countries joined by his recent good will flight.
The body of the young officer, who was killed when his plane crashed Thursday night near Mount Holly, N. J., in a thunderstorm, lies in state here today, attended by a military guard of honor.
On Wednesday 10,000 troops will line the route from the funeral chapel to the railroad station, as airplanes circle slowly overhead. Col. Theodore Baldwin, Jr., corps area air officer, with three other officers and a picked detachment of 16 men, will compose the guard of honor on the train until it reaches Mexico City.
At the request of the Mexican government no religious ceremony of any kind will be performed here or anywhere enroute.

Streitenberger In "Solitary" On Anniversary

Columbus, July 16.—Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective and now life-terminer in the Ohio state penitentiary here following his conviction of first degree murder in connection with the assassination of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was held in solitary confinement at the institution today, the second anniversary of the Canton editor's death.
When sentenced for the murder, the charge carried a provision that Streitenberger should spend each anniversary of Mellett's death in solitary confinement.

Martins Ferry High Grid Star Is Dead

Martins Ferry, July 16.—Funeral service was being arranged here today for Lemon Vaughn, 18, star tackle on the Martins Ferry High school football team last year.

Use Old Poles For Signals Temporarily

Old poles connecting the wires to the city's traffic lights will remain standing for several days due to a delay in the delivery of wire for the new poles, City Electrician Lee Saunders announced today.
All of the concrete poles on the south side of Main st. have been taken down and the majority of those on the north side. All work is being done after midnight in order not to interfere with the traffic on the streets during the day.
All the new traffic light poles will be up by Wednesday, Saunders said. The wire was due Saturday, but failed to arrive.

Russian, Four Aides, And Four Others Safe On Ship

CONTINUE HUNT

Moscow, July 16.—The Russian ice breaker Krassin has rescued Russian Aviator Chuchnovsky and four companions as well as four members of Noble relief parties that were stranded in the arctic, the Soviet relief committee announced this afternoon.
In addition to the Chuchnovsky group the Krassin picked up Noyes, a Norwegian, and three Italians from the relief ship Braganza. The Braganza has been in the arctic since the first of June trying to locate and save missing members of the Noble expedition.
The Krassin continued its search of the arctic wastes today for signs of the missing Alessandri group of six of the Italia crew and the unheard from rescue party of six led by Capt. Roald Amundsen, noted arctic explorer.

Radio Operator Exhausted

Because the radio operator of the ship was exhausted by his strenuous exertions during the latter part of last week, when the crew of the Krassin rescued seven survivors of the lost dirigible from almost certain death on the ice flows, Dr. Samoylovich radioed from the ship in its last message that no further wireless messages would be sent until there was a rescue of either of these groups.
Of the seven rescued men aboard, the five of Viglieri group are in the best physical condition. They had plenty of food in their encampment and were in high spirits aboard the Krassin. Lieut. Viglieri, their leader, stated that they had hardly begun to consume the food dropped from airplanes, when they were rescued.

Malmgren Was Alive

Official advice wireless from the Krassin confirms that Prof. Finn Malmgren was alive when Alfredo Marinano and Filippo Zappi left him on the ice at Brock Island about the middle of June.
The Soviet relief commission at Moscow announced the receipt of a radio-gram from the Krassin saying that the seven Noble survivors on board would be landed at a fueling station on the northern coast of Spitzbergen, probably Advent Bay, after the Chuchnovsky party has been taken aboard.

10 DEAD, 25 HURT IN RAIL CRASH

After the crash, the trains caught fire and many of the victims were burned beyond recognition. Great difficulty was encountered in extricating the mangled bodies of the dead.
Rescuers worked vigorously through the dark hours of early morning to save the injured, guided only by their means and powerful searchlights brought to the scene shortly after the tragedy.

WILL EDUCATE PUBLIC ON POISON GAS USE

Washington, July 16.—Education of the American public to a better understanding of the use of poison gas in warfare and to clear up the involved technical and psychological aspects of this international problem will be undertaken by the American Chemical society and the National Association for Chemical Defense.
Both organizations take the attitude that no world compact banning poison gas in war can be enforced and urge that America should remain aloof from such treaties.
The scientific attitude toward the most question was explained today by H. Edmund Bullis, executive secretary of the chemical defense association. He said:
"No sane person can believe that any country at war would want to manufacture projectiles to defend itself against aggression if, in its manufacturing plants, phosgene gas and other industrial chemicals would be made available and used effectively for defense purposes."
"Whenever poison gas is mentioned there is the danger of public hysteria, in which a sane perspective is easily lost. Because of this almost universal public sentiment against the use of gas for military purposes, very few persons or organizations are willing to be put in the light of defending the so-called 'diabolical agents.'"

RULING BLOW TO DEFENSE CLAIMS SLAYER'S INSANE

Tribunal of Three Judges Decides Toledo Slugger Must Expiate Crime

SET OCT. 26 FOR ELECTROCUTION

Hoppe Will Talk, If Cash Is Given Him, He Tells Court Reporters

Toledo, July 16.—Charles (Stanley) Hoppe, self-confessed slayer of 7-year-old Dorothy Sielagowski and Lily Dale Crox is sane and must expiate his crimes in the electric chair on Oct. 26, it was decided here today by a tribunal composed of Common Pleas Judges Milroy, Martin and Austin.
The verdict came as a crushing blow to the defense which had introduced witnesses and psychiatrists in an effort to establish their contention that the alleged "Toledo slugger" was insane and should be confined to an institution where he would not be a menace to society.

Sentence of death was pronounced on the doomed man immediately after the verdict was announced Judge Charles M. Milroy, who presided at his trial, sentenced Hoppe to die in the death chair at Columbus on Friday October 26.

Will "Talk for Money"
Hoppe stood rigid and wild eyed as sentence was pronounced. His first move after hearing his doom was to lunge toward a drinking fountain, dragging a deputy sheriff, to whom he was handcuffed, with him.
When asked by reporters, as he was being led away, if he had anything to say, Hoppe answered: "Nothing doing, you newspaper men will have to pay me to talk. I have a kid to support and I'll talk for money if you come over to the jail."

The decision that Hoppe is sane and must be executed was made by Common Pleas Judges Charles M. Milroy, James Austin, Jr., and James S. Martin, sitting as a sanity tribunal. Their decision was unanimous.

The 26-year-old Toledo taxi driver was placed on trial here June 25, charged with first degree murder in connection with the brutal criminal assault and strangulation of Dorothy Sielagowski, his cousin by marriage, who met death at the hands of the fiend on the morning of May 29.

Intense interest was manifested in the case and great difficulty was experienced in the selection of a jury, three panels totaling 245 veniremen and women being called before the jury was completed. Six women and an equal number of men composed the jury which heard evidence in the base.

Hoppe's trial was abruptly halted on July 6 when Larry Bevan, chief of defense counsel, startled the courtroom by entering a plea of guilty to murder in the first degree on behalf of the accused man and then moved for a hearing to determine Hoppe's mental condition.

Second Confession Made
Judge Charles M. Milroy, presiding at the trial immediately dismissed the jury and, with Judges Martin and Austin, began the consideration of evidence submitted by defense attorneys that Hoppe was unable to distinguish right from wrong, was irresponsible and should be declared insane.

The first session of the sanity hearing was electrified when Dr. L. R. Querner, defense alienist, introduced a confession signed by Hoppe to the effect that he had assaulted and killed Lily Dale Crox, Toledo school teacher, whose death was an unsolved mystery here for two years.

Dr. Querner and other defense alienists underwent a severe cross examination by state counsel who endeavored to tear down the confession, attacking it as a mere attempt of defense lawyers to save Hoppe from the chair.

The tribunal began its deliberations on July 19 when the defense and state rested their cases without taking advantage of the oral arguments allowed them by law.

CONSOLIDATION STRENGTH

The trend in the present-day world of business and industry apparently is toward consolidations as a means of strengthening the individual property, reducing the general overhead, cutting off waste and increasing the net income. This is apparent from the long list of important consolidations in business and industry during the first half of the current year.

Banks, manufacturing concerns, flour mills, paper makers, oil companies, drug houses, theater enterprises, public utilities, all are included in this list of consolidations which stretches from coast to coast, and which, in one way or another, vitally affects the general economic structure of the immediate locality wherein such a combination may be located.

The time was when it was considered the height of business acumen to engage in cut-throat competition, price-slashing, or anything else which served to discomode an adversary or enhance the value of the product of a certain industry. Overhead was tremendous. Profits were nil. Then business men awakened to the losses they were taking each year, and as a result the effecting of these consolidations has brought about sounder industries, has resulted in fewer and fewer bankruptcies, has brought higher wages to the skilled worker and has stabilized the particular business involved in the tie-up.

Some folks may look askance at combinations in business, but so long as these combinations are within the law and not in restraint of legitimate trade by an outsider, they are beneficial to everyone with whom they come in contact. And where the large number benefit, who can say that the combination is not a fair one?

ADVERTISING ON HIGHWAYS

State Highway Director Harry J. Kirk's order directing the removal of all political advertisements within the limits of state highways should please just about everybody with the possible exceptions of the candidates who go in for that kind of publicity and the job printers who turn it out.

The state director calls attention to the law against the posting of advertisements on state roads, and announces that it will be rigidly enforced in connection with posters promoting political candidates, regardless of the persons or parties using them.

It may be that some votes are made by means of posters along highways, but it's just as probable that more votes are lost thereby than are made. It in no way improves the appearance of a highway when likenesses of candidates appear on almost every tree, pole or post along it. Motorists are beginning to appreciate the cleanliness and beauty of the highways and are becoming more and more inclined to reject their use for advertising purposes. Posters on every object to which they may possibly be attached not only disfigure the highway when they are thus exposed, but also litter up when they become weatherworn and fall off.

And what is true in connection with highways through rural districts is likewise true of streets and avenues in municipalities. There is utterly no reason why they should be blotched with cards, posters and bills. It would be well were city and village authorities to follow the lead of those of the state and taboo the card and poster abuse along all the public streets and thoroughfares.

What Others Say

OCCUPATION OF RHINELAND
Germany continues her undiminished efforts to persuade France to abandon her indefinite occupation of the Rhineland. As the new chancellor, Herr Mueller, recently took over the reins of government, he seized upon the occasion to voice a new appeal for withdrawal. Stresemann, Von Hindenburg, Loebe have each pleaded eloquently in the past year to the same end. The thorn fester in Germany's side.

No adequate answer has been given by France to these pleas. It is of course true that, under the terms of the Versailles treaty, she is entitled to keep the Rhineland garrisoned by her troops for the next seven years. But it is a truth accepted both by her and the world at large that her security against a possible German attack was the basis for this provision of the treaty, and there is today no evidence which warrants the belief that such a course on Germany's part is dreamed of in that nation. Germanic and French relations, thanks to a disposition on the former's part sincerely to perform the heavy obligations justly incurred under the Versailles treaty and to the economic interdependence of both nations in post-war Europe, grow more and more amicable. The serious allegations in last year's Guilemat report, which represented Germany as in the course of secretly arming, have been examined into and found with out semblance of adequate basis.

Just why, these things being true, France should persist in her course of maintaining her troops on German soil is difficult, upon the surface of things, to understand. The policy to which she is apparently wedded is an expensive one and France is far from being in position to conduct herself extravagantly. It is patently opposed to the upbuilding of good will between her and her neighbor, and France is vigorous in her protestations that she desires that good will. But one need dig very deeply beneath the surface to understand the genuine factor in the case.

France is today occupying the Rhineland for only one reason, which is that she figures that her evacuation thereof has a substantial bargaining value. Hard pressed to make both ends meet, she knows that Germany would pay cash to be rid of the humiliation of the presence of her troops in the Coblenz area, and intends to make the most of that fact. German bonds, floated in America, would supply Germany with the asking price, and the American dollar so obtained could in the end be used to pay France's obligations to us. So France figures. And who, under the circumstances, can blame her. And as the time grows shorter and shorter until Jan. 1, 1935, and the thorn of the French occupation grows more irksome to the German republic—we may expect to see negotiations along the indicated lines opened in the not too distant future.—Washington Star.

BETTER FACILITIES

The New York Central is putting into operation on its Buffalo-New York division a deluxe day coach service, believed to be its answer to motor transportation which in recent years has cut deeply into the passenger business of the railroads. The new coach provides individual seats and screened windows. To these de luxe trains is to be added an observation car, for all of which special facilities no additional charge will be made.

These trains, it is said, will be put into operation as an experiment to determine whether improved facilities will draw back to the railroads any considerable portion of the local traffic now lost to the bus and to the privately owned automobile. If the experiment proves successful more equipment of this type will be built by the New York Central. Probably other rail lines also would make similar improvements.

Whether improved facilities will draw back passenger traffic which has been lost remains to be seen. There is some indication, however, that the cost of automobile operation is beginning to be appreciated by car owners and that many are realizing for the first time that public transportation is cheaper than private.

It is a bit significant that the railroads should be giving consideration to their passenger business. Their disposition for many years was to look upon freight as the important part of their business and to regard passenger traffic hardly more than a necessary evil. They have discovered, however, in the past few years that the loss of revenue from that source is not easily made up from other kinds of traffic. And most of them are in need of all the revenue they can get in order to meet high operating costs and an overhead which any other industry would find prohibitive.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

INFANTS NEED PLENTY OF WATER TO DRINK

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

This is the time of year when every day is likely to be a hot day. Please remember that in many respects babies are not unlike grown-ups. Just as we get thirsty, so do babies get thirsty. Not for a single half day should the mother forget this.

Not every time a baby cries it is because it is hungry. Just because it wails is not an indication that there is a pin sticking in it somewhere. Many a poor little baby cries and cries because the poor infant is thirsty.

I am so anxious to impress this important suggestion upon your mind that I shall enlarge upon it somewhat. You know how you feel when you are thirsty. Suppose you sit in the senate and the proceedings are dry. Your mouth gets dry too, doesn't it? You send the page for a drink of water.

The poor little baby may not know what is the matter, but if it knew what a dollar is and that you can even buy water with it, the child would want you to run around the corner and get a bottle of water.

Many a baby has suffered untold torture from a lack of water. Next time your baby cries and you can't find any other reason for the misery get the infant a tablespoonful of water. There will be happiness written on every feature of the charming little face.

This is the season of the year when babies need more care than they do in winter. They feel the effects of the heat and the seasonal inconveniences just as adults do. In fact they are more apt to suffer than adults, because they are more sensitive.

Provide yourself with a bottle which has been boiled or thoroughly sealed. Fill this with water which has been boiled for several minutes. Stopper the bottle with sterile cotton. Then if it is placed in a cool place the water will be good for a day.

Give the baby from this bottle a little of this carefully prepared water every couple of hours between feedings. This will keep the baby happy and will help it to thrive and grow.

I have told you many times that the wastes of the body cannot be disposed of until they are thrown into solution. Solid waste is difficult to handle.

Of course it is true that practically all of the baby's food is liquid and on this account the waste material is readily carried away. But even so, the fluid part of the milk is not sufficient. A reasonable amount of pure water is necessary to permit the proper disposal of waste. When sufficient water is given, either to an adult or a baby, it aids the kidneys and the skin as well as the intestinal tract. It does much to promote health.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE
She Writes of a Smart Sport Model.

THE other day I sold a simply swell two-piece frock to a customer—a combination ivory crepe and middy blue flannel—nautical and nice withal.

Why anything blue and white should immediately suggest the Navy to me, I don't know. But such is the fact, and when the model possesses a blouse and a material that navigates under the name of middy blue, the connection is inevitable.

It is a grand dress for Summer. It would do for tea dancing in these inclement days, what wouldn't it? It would be a knockout decoration of any country club porch, and it might doport itself beautifully about town on a morning. It's an all-around trim dress that you're not apt to see duplicated.

After that lengthy preamble it might be well to describe the darsied appearing to be straight. It was fitted so snugly that it needed no buttons or tucks to cinch the hips away. And these days, unless they are just too baggy hips must be fitted snugly. The couturiers have said it, and I brook no dissent.

The middy blue line was banded in middy blue flannel (now tell me that again, don't you sound seafaring?) and the applique—well, the applique was just too elegant. Two short sleeves of the flannel on the right shoulder and three long interlacing ones on the left. And because I can't do justice to them, I'm doing a sketch of the model on the next page for all the world—be it of that inquisitive enough to be interested in my diary—to admire.

The sleeves were long and tight, and in time fitting and dotted with four crepe buttons. The crepe skirt fell in neat ripples—like the

LOUVAIN FIGHT RENEWED AGAIN

Foreman Destroys Masonry of Library Facade; Then Surrenders

Louvain Belgium, July 16.—Violence which broke out over the proposed inscription upon the facade of the restored Louvain library flared up again today.

Felix Morren, 29, foreman of the workmen employed upon the building climbed 150 feet to the balustrade where the inscription was to have been installed. For 45 minutes he wielded a heavy pick destroying the masonry of the balustrade.

Meanwhile police in the street below were kept busy dodging the flying masonry while shouting to Morren to desist.

Workmen, who were standing about, refused to interfere. Finally when he had done all the damage he could, Morren surrendered and was arrested.

The library was dedicated on July 4 with the facade bare of any inscription due to the dispute between Whitney Warren, architect of the building and Monsignor Ladeuze. Warren wanted to install an inscription reading (in Latin): "Destroyed by German fury; restored by American generosity."

Monsignor Ladeuze objected on he ground it might revive war hatreds. The prelate had his way and the face of the library was left bare. Funds for restoration on the library were obtained by popular subscription in the United States.

Dawes himself told newspapermen he would support Hoover actively. "I want to co-operate and do all I can to help in Mr. Hoover's election and in the success of the Republican party," said Dawes.

"The secretary will have a fine victory in the election. I see every indication of it."

Ossining, N. Y., July 16.—Walter Conway, for two years a keeper at Sing Sing prison here, was suspended today by Warden Lewis E. Lawes as a result of the disappearance early yesterday of two young Manhattan gunmen serving long terms at the state prison.

Ossining, N. Y., July 16.—A far-flung search was being made today for James Nanery and Edward Ryan, youthful killers who disappeared from Sing Sing prison before breakfast yesterday morning.

Whether they got over the prison walls, where sentinels with rifles are constantly on patrol, or remained hidden in some sequestered cranny of the prison is unknown.

Officials say both men, if armed, would "shoot it out" with officers. They probably would prefer death to recapture, officials said.

Detroit, July 16.—Police today hold Frank Buhla, 21, Detroit, and Edward Rush, 20, of Gloucester, Ohio. The men were arrested when they tossed a pistol from an automobile.

OPENING IRREGULAR

New York, July 16.—Irregularities in the opening of the stock market today, with practically all of the major issues lower. United States Steel declined 1/4 to 135 1/2; General Motors fell off 1/4 to 135 1/2; Standard Oil of New Jersey dropped 1/4 to 135 1/2; Radio Corporation advanced 1/4 to 166 1/2; and Chrysler rose 1/4 to 135 1/2. The market was inactive. The first hour of trading was irregular. General Motors dropped 3 points to 135 1/2; under heavy selling pressure and Wright Aero fell off 1/4 to 135 1/2. A 2 1/2 point decline to 135 1/2 was recorded in Montgomery Ward while General Electric slipped back 1/4 to 144 1/2. Other declines were less substantial.

During the first hour of trading American Can eased off 1/4 to 82 1/2; Chrysler 1 point to 70 1/2; Studebaker to 71 1/2; Packard 1/4 to 71 1/2; Sears Roebuck 1/4 to 113 1/2; and Nash Motors 1/4 to 81. At these figures the market steadied for a time. The selling had been largely due to the nervousness over tightened money conditions and uncertainty over the credit situation. Then, too, commission houses had advised clients not to take the long side at present, advising profit taking wherever possible on the theory that stocks could be purchased more cheaply in the near future.

Reassuring business statements over the week-end resulted in a better demand along toward noon which had the effect of checking the downward trend of prices.

Commodity markets were irregular. Call money opened at 6 1/2 per cent, an advance of 1/4 per cent from Friday's close.

BUTLER REFUSES CAPITAL RUMOR

Washington, July 16.—Reports that President Coolidge has tendered the post of secretary of commerce to ex-Senator William M. Butler of Massachusetts, and that Butler is reluctant to accept, were rife in Washington today.

Butler is said to have declined the cabinet post of secretary of war after the death of John W. Weeks. Meantime the department of commerce, which Herbert Hoover left on Saturday, was in the charge of Walter F. Brown, assistant secretary. Brown has been regarded as a likely appointee to succeed Hoover.

WINONA

The Edgerton family reunion was an enjoyable event of Saturday at the home of Walter G. Edgerton, with about 40 in attendance from Barnesville, Middleton and Damascus. There was a picnic dinner, and games provided entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moore entertained at a family gathering Sunday at their home. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Clements and children, Anthony, Kan.; Mrs. J. C. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. A. Halverstad and Mr. and Mrs. Plum, Alliance, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown and family, Salem.

A baseball game Sunday at Winona, played by the Winona Tigers and a team from Hanoverton, resulted in a score of 16-5 in favor of the Tigers.

Edward Woolman and daughter, Miss Jessie Woolman; Miss Mildred Dewese and Mr. Stanley, of near Philadelphia, motored Sunday to Kent and Cleveland. Mr. Stanley is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Jenkins.

Misses Dorothy and Ruth Foster entertained a company of their friends at a Dutch party Friday evening at their home. Games were played and refreshments served.

Miss Ethel Hall, of near Winona, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Salem City hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Taylor spent the weekend in Salem with relatives.

Kentucky Methodist Editor Raps Smith At Sebring Sunday

Dr. H. C. Morrison of Wilmore, Ky., one of the special workers at the annual Sebring campmeeting, now in session at Quaker Hill, near Sebring, spoke at the Sunday afternoon service.

Dr. Morrison asked the hundreds of people assembled there to set aside the first day of every month from August until November for fasting and prayer to "ask God to save us from Al Smith and the bar room."

It is the opinion of Dr. Morrison that "the United States is facing the greatest tragedy in its history at the November election" and that "the Christian people should unitedly pray for the defeat of Al Smith."

He told how much better conditions were in Kentucky since the 18th amendment had been added to the constitution. "When they tell us conditions are worse under prohibition, God knows they are lying," the speaker stated.

Dr. Morrison is of the belief that the cause of the perilous condition of the nation is because people have talked of high ideals and good morals instead of getting at the root of the disease, carnality in the heart.

Dr. Morrison is editor of The Pentecostal Herald, a Methodist publication, and president of the theological department of Asbury Holiness college.

OHIO LEADS IN GRADE DEATHS

Blame Position of State
On Transcontinental
Routes For Total

Columbus, July 16.—The geographical position of Ohio on the route of transcontinental railroad travel was today blamed for the increase of railroad crossing fatalities during the past year.

This was the explanation given by officials at the state highway department when confronted with a Washington report that Ohio not only led the states in the number of railroad crossing deaths but that there was an increase in the number of casualties during 1927.

According to this Washington report, 251 persons were killed at crossings in 1927 compared with the 236 similar deaths in 1926.

"Ohio, so to speak, is the very 'bottle neck' of the network of railroads that spread over the United States," the official said.

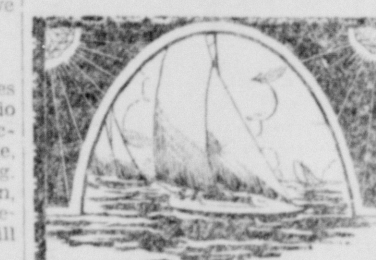

There also has been an increase in the number of grade crossings, the officials pointed out. A conservative estimate by the officials declared that there is one grade crossing to every eight miles of road in the Buckeye state.

MARINE CORPS NOW ACCEPTS SHORTER YOUTHS

Five feet four inches is not such a short height as it used to be as the result of an announcement by Sergt. John W. Schmidt of the eastern division, U. S. Marine Corps recruiting station in Youngstown today that the marines will now accept men of that stature. Until now the minimum has been five feet six inches.

This ruling pertains to both original enlistments and re-enlistments the announcement states.

"do it electrically"

Just because your family enjoys good homemade bread or hot biscuits the year 'round doesn't mean that you must swelter in the kitchen through the hot months. If you have an electric range the heat stays inside the oven and leaves the kitchen cool and pleasant. Then, too, the heat of an electric oven can be regulated automatically to release you from tiresome watching.

ROBIN'S CHECK DASH OF CARDS

Bissonette's Hitting Is Downfall of St. Louis; Indians Blanked

New York, July 16.—The dizzy pace set by the Cardinals has at last been checked by Bissonette and his Brooklyn cohorts. His homer and triple stopped the league leaders from winning in two runs Sunday and he drove in two runs again yesterday, 3 to 1. Buzz McWeeney, who pitched for the Cardinals, was completely blanked by the Indians.

The Giants held on to second place by losing to the Reds again yesterday, 2 to 1. Pitzsimmons won his own game with a double in the eighth. Red Lucas, couldn't quite make the grade.

The Phillies just went through the motions again and succumbed to the Cubs, 6 to 3.

The Yankees have braced after a bad slump. Herb Pennock blanked Cleveland, 3 to 0, and the Ruth-Gaige home run combination beat the Indians in the nightcap, 6 to 4. The St. Louis Browns, now playing the best ball in the American league, made it seven wins in nine starts by losing out to Washington in the twelfth, 6 to 4.

Other teams did not play.

HEENEY LIKES COOL WEATHER

Pat Haven, N. J., July 16.—A cool west end during which he was more or less confined to quarters by equally cool weather and did no boxing except at night, has started Tom Heenev on his final week of training with no signs of physical or mental fatigue and enough extra weight to withstand the rigors of a stretch drive.

The steady downpours last Friday and Saturday prevented the heavy-weight challenger from moving about and though he manifested symptoms of restlessness, he gave the impression of a big human steam engine storing up rest and strength against the big day of his extreme test.

The cool weather is a delight to Heenev who is violently opposed to heat in the training camp for a few days. He can sweat off five or six pounds even on cool evenings when he indulges in violent physical exertions and when the thermometer hits up in the 80's, as it did here a few days, he simply melts from the additional body heat.

BARFOUR SENT BY NEW YORK

Board S. S. Roosevelt (via Radio) July 15.—All the athletes aboard ship enroute to Amsterdam to represent the United States in the Olympic games resumed strenuous training after resting over the Sabbath.

Four athletes whom the New York A. C. announced it would send aboard at its own expense although they did not qualify in the Olympic tests, have been officially barred from competing in a decision made public by Major General MacArthur, president of the Olympic committee.

The four in question are Matt Smith, hammer thrower, Weems, sprinter and Norton Jackson, wrestler. Lock and Baskin are on the high seas.

A fifth athlete who failed to qualify but may yet join the team is the Indian decathlete, MacArthur made it plain that he would be allowed to join the team which showed that the leg injury which prevented him from competing had improved sufficiently to enable him to perform at his best.

Mining Town Setting For Loughran-Latzo Title Fight Tonight

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 16.—Tommy Loughran, the strange young man who labors under the mid-Victorian notion that a champion fighter is a lad who goes about fighting with vulgar frequency, will take that light heavyweight title of his off the back shelf again tonight and lay it right out there on the counter for the shoppers of the division.

The next customer will be Pete Latzo, tough as the slag heaps in this region of his birth.

They will meet in ten heats to an official decision. Weather willing, and if they repeat their Ebbets field brawls of several months ago, the natives are in for quite an evening. Latzo, they say, was winning the last one at the end of ten rounds.

The present occasion marks the sixth time within eight months that Loughran has involved himself in championship fights, counting the return meeting with Lonski scheduled for next month and the one Slattery missed.

Few championship fights, and certainly none of Loughran's have had a setting more picturesque than this. With one exception, you will have to go back to the days at Goldfield, Tonopah and Butte to get the rakish atmosphere that a mining town lends a championship prize fight. The exception is the Walter-Latzo welterweight title meeting in this same region several years ago and it may be significant.

"MAD HOUR"

The whirlwind of youth, attempting to seize recklessly the forbidden fruits of life without paying the penalties, is pictured in "Mad Hour," the Robert Kane picture for First National, which comes to the State tonight.

Sally O'Neil, a typical girl of a working class family, attempts to have a good time out of life through associating with a wild and wealthy college boy, Donald Reed. She marries him after a wild party following a football victory, only to find that he has been disinherited, and that they must struggle along together.

Their funds run low and they accept the hospitality of a supposed friend of Jack Hemingway's father, Norman Trevor. Donald Reed plays Hemingway, Jr., with Sally O'Neil, previous to changing her name to Mrs. Jack Hemingway, as Cuddles Maguire, a gold digging flapper.

In return for Mack's hospitality Cuddles delivers stolen jewels for Mack and his gang. She is caught, refuses to implicate Mack, exonerates her husband, and is sent to prison. There, a year later, her baby is born. She becomes desperately ill, and recovers to find that her marriage has been annulled and her baby taken from her.

Upon her release she goes to the Hemingway home to demand her baby, arriving just at the moment when her former husband and another girl are being married.

Unseen, she watches the ceremony when suddenly she hears a baby cry near her. She turns and sees her baby in a nurse's arms. Eagerly she attempts to snatch it from the nurse but is stopped by Jack's father, who takes her to his room and convinces her that she was unworthy of the baby.

Crushed and heartbroken she jumps into her automobile and drives recklessly through a fence, over a cliff.

In the cast are the following: Larry Kent, Kewell Sherman, Eddie Clayton, and Tully Marshall.

Tonight is "free china night" at the State.

"MY BEST GIRL"

Mary Pickford, titled "America's sweetheart," returns to the Grand theater, tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday in what is said to be one of the best of her pictures, "My Best Girl."

"My Best Girl" is the story of a shop girl, Maggie Johnson, who through all the hard knocks she receives, still retains a belief in better things. She is an enigma to her own family, who cannot understand the idealism with which she paints out the shadows in their lives.

At the store she meets a new employee, Joe Grant, with whom she falls in love. She has no idea that he is the son of her employer. It is a marvelous romance of two youngsters walking headlong and blindfolded into the trap that Fate has set for them.

Maggie has a sister whose friendship for a married man nearly wrecks the whole Johnson family and does play havoc with Maggie's own romance.

Charles Rogers plays the part of Joe Grant, and it is expected that this handsome youngster, last seen in "Wings" will soon be one of the most popular leading men on the screen.

Hobart Bosworth, the well known character actor, is the wealthy owner of the big store and the father of the hero.

Miss Pickford's "parents," with Lucien Littlefield as the hen-pecked postman-father, and Sunshine Hart as the hypochondriac mother, provide many of the laughs. Mack Swain, the famous comedian of Charlie Chaplin's "The Gold Rush," appears as the police judge in the night-court sequence.

Carmelia Geraghty plays the star's wild and wayward "sister," Avonne Taylor, known as the "perfect society type," enacts the part of Rogers' fiancée, and Evelyn Hall, the well-known English dramatic star, is cast as the millionaire's wife.

John Junior appears as the "cheap sport" and smaller parts are handled by William Courtright, Pat Hartman, Harry Walker and Frank Finch Smith.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Cold and Frozen Desserts for Hot Days

Summertime housekeepers like to do all the work possible in the cool of the morning and cold or frozen desserts may be prepared then. Cold dinners are popular with one warm dish, coffee or tea, salads, cold cuts and jellied dainties which can all be prepared in the morning along with the cold desserts.

Cold Chocolate Pudding

Soften one and a half heaping tablespoonsful of gelatin in a little cold water. Put into a saucepan a quart of rich milk, half a cupful of sugar, a half cupful of grated chocolate, a few grains of salt and the softened gelatin. Bring slowly to boiling point and cook for ten minutes stirring continuously. Remove from the fire and add a teaspoonful of vanilla. When nearly cold beat five minutes with an egg beater, turn into a wet mould and set to chill. Unmould on a glass dish, mound with whipped cream, candied cherries and serve with more whipped cream or a chocolate sauce.

Macaroon Souffle

Scald one cupful of milk then add to it the crumbs of 12 macaroons, the yolks of three eggs beaten with a half cupful of sugar, and cook gently until it begins to thicken, then remove from the fire. When the mixture is a little cool fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, a teaspoonful of vanilla and the same of rum flavoring. Set the mixture into a pan of hot water and bake until puffed up in the center. Serve cold with cream.

Caramel Ice Cream

Make a custard of two cupfuls of milk, a quarter cupful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, and three beaten eggs. Cook until it coats the spoon then add two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, strain and cool. Heat an iron frying pan hot and melt a cupful of sugar in it, when melted add a quarter cupful of boiling water, mix, then cool. Add the caramel to the custard then add a quart of light cream and freeze.

Frozen Strawberries

Wash, hull and halve two baskets of strawberries of good flavor, and put into a saucepan with a pint of sugar, melt together slowly then bring to boiling point and simmer gently for five minutes, until the sugar is melted, then cool. When cool add a pint of heavy cream and freeze.

Peach Ice Cream

Make a custard of three-quarters of a pint of cream and half a pint of milk, three quarters of a cupful of sugar, and three beaten eggs. When it coats the spoon remove from the fire and cool it. Have ready a quart of soft peach pulp well sweetened and stir it into the custard and freeze.

Maple Mousse

Bring a cupful of maple syrup to boiling point then pour it over the beaten yolks of three eggs and beat with the egg whites until stiff, mix with the custard, pour into a mould, seal the edge and pack in salt and ice for four hours.

are long but of closely-shaven fur and of very light weight.

The coat which has no fur on the outside but has a most comfy fur lining, is being chosen by many for summer. Rasmus makes tailored tweed coats on practical lines in tones of grey, greige and mixed beige with darker tones of the same gamut. They have fur linings either separate or attached. The most amazing feature is their light weight and chic silhouette. Now and again there is a big fur collar but more often than not there is no trimming at all outside.

Summer Sports Coat

All White Is at the Height of Its Mode for Resorts—Printed Effects, Too, Are Exceedingly Popular

WITH the summer season in full blast it is interesting to note the return to popularity of the all white costume. White at the seaside, white at the country club and white at the mountains all show that the summer girl is selecting at least one white coat to complete a successful ensemble.

All white in heavy georgettes and crepe satins is used for formal effects everywhere. This type of coat would, of course, appear ill at ease upon the beach, whereas it is exceedingly happy to complete a formal afternoon or evening ensemble. Woolens in pure white are seen but the "off" shades sponsored this season are newer. These in oddly woven woolen or silk and woolen materials are just the thing for sports.

Pique and linen, too, are finding a profitable season. They are used in many of the straightline coats that complete the sports costumes. Cotton fabrics, by the way, are having an unusually popular season. In the printed effects they are very chic and many printed coats complete interesting ensembles.

Doris Dawson, who appears in the First National picture, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," in selecting a smart sports ensemble, chose all white for youthful charm and chic. Miss Dawson's sweater coat was of white silk and wool mixture and possessed a very smart awaggar as to line. It was made doubly interesting by the use of a Deauville scarf in which red, white and blue tones predominated. And the tops of the socks and Deauville slippers supplied the only color relief.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, July 16. — Chilly spring winds and rainy days have given the summer fur a definite place in the summer wardrobe. Every well-dressed woman must own one or two these days of railway, motor and airplane trips. And they are not at all amiss on a chilly summer morning in town.

The summer fur coats include graceful little garments of ermine, lustre, gazelle and grey caracul which are worked in most interesting fashion. A very smart one in Gazelle seen recently at the chic races of Chantilly had the sunray pattern which appears on many of the new tuxedo frocks and coats. The pelts were worked just like the cloth.

Agnes puts black broadtail with brown caracul in the form of a striking border in modern pattern. Nearly all of her summer fur coats

Teagle To Accept Advisory Board Job At Coal Conference

Pittsburgh, July 16.—Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, has accepted an invitation to become a member of the advisory board for the second international conference on bituminous coal to be held here at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, during the week of November 19, President Thomas S. Baker announced today.

The acceptance of the New Jersey Standard Oil head to serve on the board is considered by President Baker and his associates who are vitally interested in the study of bituminous coal, as a significant indication of the increasing interest that oil companies in this country are showing in bituminous coal as a possible source of motor spirits in the future.

About a year ago an announcement was made that the I. G. Farben Industrie of Germany and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had made a contract involving the utilization of a modified Bergius process for the production of gasoline.

Recently it was announced that the New Jersey Standard Oil company and the German company were about to establish an experimental station in this country, the purpose of which was to develop the process of manufacturing synthetic petroleum from coal.

Other members of the advisory board include John Hays Hammond, consulting engineer; E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company; Samuel Insull, Chicago public utility head and well-known capitalist; George E. Leonard, president of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation; Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of treasury; August G. Oratt, president of the Babcock and Wilcox company and Charles M. Schwab, capitalist and steel manufacturer.
